The wedding countdown has begun!

Hey there, lovebirds! You're about to hit another major milestone on your wedding planning checklist. Planning this special session can and should be as exciting as the day itself, so let's dive in and make it a breeze.

Choose Your Style

First things first, think about the vibe you want for your photos. Do you dream of a cozy, intimate shoot at home?

Or maybe you're picturing a romantic stroll through a garden or park? Whether it's urban, rustic, adventurous or minimal, pick a style that reflects your personalities and relationship.

Choose Your Location

Once you've nailed down your style, it's time to scout out the perfect location. Think about places that are meaningful to you as a couple. Maybe it's where you first met, your favorite coffee spot, or simply a beautiful spot you both adore. Don't be afraid to get creative!

Timing is Everything

Consider the best time of day for your shoot. Weekdays, early morning and late afternoon usually offer the most flattering light, so aim for those golden hours if possible. Plus, you'll avoid harsh midday sun and crowds especially in the city or during the summer.

Dress to Impress

Now comes the fun part – choosing your outfits ! Think about coordinating, but you don't necessarily have to match. Opt for colors and styles that complement each other. And don't forget to wear something you feel comfortable and confident in!

Add Your Personal Touches

Make the engagement session stand out. Plan a date around it. Write and share love notes or poetry. Tell each other your worst dad jokes and see who laughs first. Bring your pets! Make this session exactly as you want it.
